Bright Possibilities

CellCandy® offers an outstanding selection of eye catching wireless accessories that mix style and finely tuned quality with emerging trends, and hot market necessities. Our mixes are based on proven sales records, and we are happy to offer them in displays and merchandising solutions to meet our customers' unique needs. Our refill kits make restocking quick and easy.

Reliability

We manufacture our items with long-standing factory partners, and take pride in utmost quality standards with a keen eye for detail. CellCandy® accessories are durable and long-lasting in a way you can see, feel and experience.

With confidence, we offer consumers a One Year Warranty on our products.

Quality

CellCandy® products are designed securely, using one piece housing molds on all charging heads and cables to increase strength and durability. Many brands use two piece designs, which are vulnerable to damage at the seams and provide inadequate protection against dust and particles.

Safety

We utilize the latest technology in protection against power overloads and voltage surges. Our products are designed to be fire-safe and contain fusible resistors to absorb dangerous shorting incidents. Each of our chargers are tested at 3 stages during assembly and then tested for utmost performance at the end. Our cables have strong strain reliefs, low resistance and are equally quality tested and assured. CellCandy® products are made safe.

Performance

Our Apple® Lightning Tip Cables are guaranteed MFi Certified for iOS compatibility. Many other brands, are not.

Each of our Lightning cables contain four microchips, including the security chip that authenticates the connection is made by an MFi certified partner.

CellCandy® cables use the proper gauge of all copper wire, no matter the length. This allows more current for a faster charge in any use.

FAST CHARGE & SYNC CABLES

What is USB-C (USB 3.0) technology?

You'll notice that the latest laptops, tablets and smart phones are being equipped with a rounder, more sleek version of the square USB-A port we have a long familiarity with.

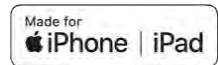

This 24-pin system is called USB-C and it is the emerging standard for fast charging, and quick syncing files between computers and smart phones.

What are the benefits behind this new technology?

The benefits of USB-C include much faster charging, transfer rates up to 5 Gbps (versus 480 Mbps for USB-A) and the unprecedented ability to transfer displays between devices by connecting to HDMI, VGA or Apple Display Port.

The Fastest Path to a Full Charge

When paired with a Power Delivery compatible charger, a “handshake” occurs between USB-C cables and the respective charging device. Power Delivery chargers are equipped with a special chip that puts a read on each connected device, and supplies it with the most optimal power speeds possible. Power Delivery is understood to be the fastest, and safest in new charging technologies.

Pair our Fast Charge USB-C cables with CellCandy® Power Delivery Wall (p3) and Car Chargers (p7) to offer the latest and greatest in high-demand power solutions.

5 Ways Consumers Make The Most of Power Delivery

- 1. A Full Charge On-The-Go. Heading out for a night with friends? In the time it takes to get ready, or while heading over during the drive, Power Delivery will supply smart phones with a full charge; backing them with enough power to last any festivities.
- 2. Keep The Conversations Flowing. No one likes being tethered to a wall charger during phone calls or video chats. Even while in use, Power Delivery chargers provide enough juice in a short period of time to unplug and resume sweet, wireless freedom.
- 3. Don't Stop The Music! Power Delivery speeds work in conjunction with USB-C or Lightning ports on wireless earbuds or speakers, so audiophiles can keep quiet time to a minimum.
- 4. No Computer Charger, No Problem. The latest Apple® Macbooks have moved from MagSafe, to USB-C for computer charging. The same Power Delivery set up for smart phones and other devices can serve as an impromptu laptop charger, saving headaches from a dead computer situation.
- 5. Superior Safety. Given that the Power Delivery chip reads and responds to a device's individual requirements, there is integrated over current protection. Power Delivery chargers are also built to meet premium quality standards for added security.
